TWENTY-SECOND YEAR

McCOOK, RED WILLOW COUNTY, NEBRASKA, FRIDAY EVENING, JUNE 19, 1903.

NUMBER 3

Ever Charming Children's Day Exercises.

Children's day is one of the institutions most Americans take pleasure and satisfaction in observing; for all there is nothing more helpful than the children. They afford us our brightest outlook in life; it is always a delight to hear them, even when the taste palls.

The Congregational church was filled, Sunday evening, to witness and hear the services by the children of that Sunday-school. The program embraced musical-literary numbers by the children, and afforded keen and appreciated pleasure to all. The church was decorated florally for the occasion, palms, ferns, potted flowering plants, and cut flowers galore making an attractive background of emerald and color for the services and youthful participants. A collection was taken for the advancement of Sunday-school work in the state of Nebraska.

A Grand Lecture-Lantern Entertainment.

Frank R. Roberson's lecture on "Imperial India," Tuesday evening in the opera hall, under Junior Normal auspices, fairly took the audience by storm. McCook has never seen and heard the equal. Roberson has traveled far and wide for many years, is a close observer, and has superior powers of description. His ability as a word painter compares well with the high excellence of his views and their artistic projection on canvas. The views were exquisite—charming!—and the lecture was superb, but a little too rapid in delivery for the greatest comfort to the hearer; this failing being perhaps unavoidable. The opera house ought to have been crowded.

A. O. U. W. Memorial Services.

The members of the Workman lodge and of the Degree of Honor observed their annual Memorial day, last Sunday afternoon, in usual form. The order marched to the Congregational church in the afternoon at two o'clock, where they listened to a sermon by Rev. F. W. Dean appropriate to the occasion. After services in the church, a detachment of Workmen marched, and a large body of ladies of the Degree rode to the cemeteries of the city, where garlands were placed on the graves of departed members of the twin-orders and over the last resting places of members of families of Workmen.

Pythian Memorial Sunday.

Memorial services, Knights of Pythias, will be held in the Episcopal church, next Sunday afternoon, at 3 o'clock, Rev. E. R. Earle of St. Alban's delivering the sermon. The Knights will assemble at their castle hall at two o'clock, to march in organization to the church. After services in the chapel the members will proceed to the city cemeteries and decorate the graves of deceased Knights and of deceased members of families of Knights.

We Have Your Hammock.

The rest, comfort and enjoyment you get out of a hammock is always worth many times its cost.

This line of goods has been much improved in the last few years, and we think the lines we are showing this year will provide more comfort than the styles of previous years.

L. W. McCONNELL, Druggist.

This Rye Had Grown Some.

Uncle William Coleman exhibited at this office, last week, some samples of rye which had attained the height of five feet and ten inches. Among them was a bundle of sixty-three well developed heads, all grown from one grain of rye. The rye was taken from an upland farm in Coleman precinct, and Uncle Will states that he did not even "sharpen the hoe" in this case.

But you can't depend on what it says being true. It's different at Marsh's meat-market. Their meats talk and nothing talks truer than the good article itself.

Junior Normal Is Growing.

THE TRIBUNE takes pleasure in noting that the Junior Normal is growing in both attendance and interest. The attendance this week reached about 125, and there is definite information that same will be increased appreciably on coming Monday and Tuesday. On these dates the Burlington will give special railroad rates to those desirous of coming; and again these dates mark the limit of time teachers can get credit in the Peru State Normal School course, the rules of the state's educational department requiring an attendance of 40 days at junior normal schools and a standing of not lower than 70 per cent.

Mrs. Sarah J. Brindley of Columbus, an experienced and able primary teacher, arrived on Saturday last, and assumed charge of the model school work of the normal, Monday morning, with enthusiasm and skill. The model school is formed one-half of first-grade and one-half of third-grade pupils of our city schools, and holds from 8:00 to 10:00 in the forenoon. All the children were perfectly willing to volunteer for the purpose. This work ought to be of large practical benefit to the teachers of the district.

The music under H. E. Bradford is coming on nicely, and a concert will be announced in the near future. A large class has been formed, and effective work is being done. "The Soldier's Chorus," a cantata, and another chorus are now in preparation. It is proposed to give a music program Fridays, after the plan of our high school assembly, only the hour being ten o'clock in the morning.

State Supt. Fowler will visit the normal next Tuesday, the 23d inst.

I. B. Raichart, superintendent of Dundey county, visited the normal, Wednesday.

Rev. F. W. Dean addressed the teachers in chapel, Tuesday morning at ten o'clock.

Dr. Clark will lecture on pedagogical subjects, Monday and Tuesday, June 29th and 30th.

County Supt. E. S. Dutcher of Red Willow county heard Roberson's lecture and saw his marvelous views, Tuesday evening.

THE TRIBUNE urges upon the people of McCook their attendance, so far as possible, upon the attractions presented by the normal management.

The framed pictures have arrived and now ornament the walls of the high school rooms. The work of selection has been artistic, and the effect is altogether attractive.

Next Monday evening, the 22d, Prof. George E. Condra of the state university will deliver an illustrated lecture on the geography of Nebraska, in the court house, commencing at 8:30 o'clock. Admission will be 25c. The professor will also address the normal both morning and afternoon at regular sessions.

A reception will be tendered the teachers attending the junior normal school, next Tuesday evening, June 13, at the court room. The local committee has it in charge and hopes to make it an occasion of pleasure and interest. State Supt. W. K. Fowler will be present as a guest of honor. The public is most cordially invited to be present.

Society Elects Officers.

At a meeting of the local board of the Nebraska Children's Home Society called by Miss Irma G. Allen, representative of the parent society who has been making addresses in the different churches in behalf of the organization lately, the following officers were chosen:

President—Justin A. Wilcox.

Vice-president—Mrs. Martin Traver.

Secretary—S. C. Beach.

Treasurer—Albert McMillen.

This society, whose high purposes are so well known to our readers, is doing splendid work. Excellent homes have been found for several little ones here in our own city.

The Fourteenth Judicial District central committee held a session in our city, Wednesday evening. They decided to hold the judicial convention, September 17th, using the vote for Governor Mickey as the basis for representation. See call elsewhere in this issue.

The members of McCook lodge 135, A. F. & A. m., and invited friends, will celebrate St. John's day, June 24th, next Wednesday, at a picnic to be held in Byfield's grove, just east of the narrows, east of town. It will be better than last year.

We are turning out many very satisfactory dress skirts to measure. Fifty kept on the line ready to wear, $2.50 up. To your measure at the same price. The Thompson Dry Goods Co.

McCook Castle No. 307, Royal Highlanders, will elect officers at its next regular meeting, next Tuesday evening.
